Those hot, hazy, crazy days of summer

Peaceful place for relaxin'

The extremely hot weather of the past week has caused area residents to get serious about summer. As these photos show, some San Jose residents went to the Municipal Rose Garden to soak up the sun and enjoy the surroundings. In top photo, Danny Costa relaxes on a bench near the fountain in the Rose Garden. Costa works nights and has time to work on his tan during the day. Below right, Andrea Tate and Martha Montagne take a lunch break among the rows of flowers at the garden.

Ray Herrick is just about finished reconstructing his airplane. All that's left to make it fly are the wings.

He's building his own dream machine

By Kathy Iverson

Homebuilt aircraft is fast becoming a craze in Santa Clara Valley as hundreds of expert hobbyists restore old planes and put kits together. Aircraft skeletons and parts litter more garages and backyards than one would think.

Enthusiasts gather at the annual Hollister Air Show and swap horror or humor (depending on the point of view of the teller) stories, like the time a pilot did a painstakingly perfect restoration job on a plane in his garage and then couldn't get it out the door.

Ray Herrick of Saratoga, a pilot, now restoring a Stinson 1947 Voyager Aircraft in his garage, looks forward to the air show this July and to the time when his plane is ready to take him exploring unusual places in America, such as inaccessible-by-land fishing holes. His enchantment with aircraft began very early . . .

At the age of 3 he stood in his doorway on the island of Hawaii watching, amazed, as Japanese bombers roared over his house on their way to Pearl Harbor. Off in the distance he could see innocuous-looking puffs of black smoke billowing up from the harbor. That is his first remembrance of airplanes.

At the age of 8 he experienced the exhilaration of his first flight, and his lifelong infatuation with the joy and power of airplanes was born. "I knew that was the ONLY way to see the world — from a bird's eye view," said Herrick. "One time you really enjoy the bird's-eye view is when you're looking down on traffic snarls and not having to be in it."

After serving in the Navy Reserves, he attended the Northrup Institute of Technology, received his FAA license, got a job as an aircraft licensed mechanic at United Airlines, and went shopping for his own airplane.

He soon found just what he wanted — an old Stinson Company airplane, the 1947 Voyager. Though elderly, it was a well-preserved beauty, showing a pretty silhouette with high wings, spacious four-seat cabin, a 550-mile range, a 165 HP Franklin Engine with 120 mph cruising speed. It was love.

The Voyager seemed in good condition, but after a minor accident in which a wheel got stuck in a ditch and had to be removed, Herrick saw some aging problems inside and some possibilities for improvement. He decided to restore it.

That was eight years ago, and the project has had to be put aside several times through the busy years, as Herrick raised his family and built on to his house. He has never forgotten his goal of complete restoration, and possibly even participation in the Hollister Airport. So far, he has repaired rusted tail parts, replaced the plexiglas windows, soundproofed the cabin and reupholstered the seats.

"One good thing about the show is that we can all satisfy our curiosity," said Herrick. "We all want to learn what other pilots are doing." He told about how, on several occasions when he was working on his airplane outside, flying pilots would buzz so low over his house that once he could actually see a face.

"That's how curious they are about what I'm doing," Herrick laughed.

That's another benefit of the air show—pilots and anyone else in the general public can enjoy the events, walk around, talk to the pilots and satisfy their curiosity about airplanes. The show is July 13, all day, at the Hollister Airport. For more information, call (408) 378-4478.

As for seeing Ray Herrick fly his 1947 Voyager in the show, well, maybe next year . . .

Volunteers win national award

Five Santa Clara County area businesspeople have been presented the Bronze Junior Achievement National Leadership Award for "exemplary leadership in promoting economic understanding and career education through Junior Achievement."

The Bronze Leadership Award is one of the highest awards that can be given to an adult volunteer in the program.

The individuals receiving the Bronze Leadership Award in 1985 are John M. Black, Jr., of Woodside area vice president of Pacific Bell; Harrison S. Payne, of Los Gatos retiree of Pacific Bell; Brooks T. Mancini, San Jose, president, B.T. Mancini Company, Inc.; Michele Howard, San Jose, a buyer with Hewlett-Packard Company; and Roger G. Cranmer, Mountain View, director, Group Plans and Administration of Amdahl Corporation.

"These five individuals are dedicated to helping the youth of the Santa Clara County area learn more about our private enterprise system," commented Cindy E. Freeman, president of Junior Achievement of Santa Clara County. "They exemplify the dedication of area business people to the local JA program and prove that volunteerism is alive and well in the Silicon Valley," added Freeman.

The local JA programs are carried out with the aid of the volunteer manpower and financial support of businesses, foundations and concerned individuals.

Currently nearly 800 area business people from more than 130 area firms volunteer their time for the major JA programs, the Company Program, Applied Economics, and Project Business.

Junior Achievement, established in 1919, is the nation's oldest non-profit organization offering business education to youth. More than one half million youths will participate nationally in Junior Achievement during 1985-86, with over 14,000 participating in the Santa Clara County area.

Bus driver stops to aid toddler

Thanks to the alertness of a Santa Clara County Transit bus driver, a 1-year-old San Jose boy is safe today.

Barbara Williams was driving her bus down Tully Road on July 2 and spotted the boy walking towards the busy street.

Williams quickly pulled over to the side of the road and picked up the child. She brought him aboard her bus and kept him there until the police arrived 30 minutes later.

"There were about 20 passengers aboard at the time," Williams said. "Not one of them complained about the delay. They all just played with the boy and kept him entertained."

Another Line 26 bus came along 15 minutes later to take the passengers on their way.

Officer Vaughn Edwards of the San Jose Police Department was able to reunite the child with his parents, who live near the intersection of Tully and Lucretia where the incident took place.

Transit District Director Jim Reading described the important public service role drivers play. "In many cases, they are the eyes and ears of the community," he said. "They have been responsible for reporting fires and suspicious activities in many neighborhoods."

Health tips / DES leaves legacy of problems

EARLY IN THE 1970s, studies revealed that women who had taken diethylstilbestrol (DES) during pregnancy had passed on a legacy of possible health problems to their daughters and sons. Today, as these sons and daughters reach child-bearing age, continued research is leading to a more complete understanding of the effects of this drug.

Diethylstilbestrol (DES) is a synthetic estrogen that was once used to prevent miscarriage. DES was taken by approximately 4.8 million women between 1938 and 1971, particularly those women who had a history of previous miscarriage, bleeding during pregnancy or diabetes. Although use of DES during pregnancy was discontinued in 1971, the effects of DES are still being studied in DES mothers (those who actually received the drug), DES sons and DES daughters.

Recent studies indicate that women who actually received the drug may face a higher risk of breast cancer than they would normally. In most studies, the risk remains normal until about 22 years after exposure to the drug, when the risk becomes progressively higher.

DES EFFECTS in daughters

may involve structural abnormalities of the reproductive tract, higher than normal rates of late pregnancy loss and pre-term delivery, and in extremely rare cases, cancer of the vagina and cervix.

Fortunately the risk of DES-associated cancer of the vagina or cervix is very low and if found early, can be treated effectively. In a very recent study, scientists have found that DES daughters may be at a higher risk for dysplasia and adenosis — both involving the development of abnormal cell growth on the vagina or cervix.

Since dysplasia is a forerunner of cervical cancer, this diagnosis can result in early treatment. Usually, if dysplasia or adenosis is diagnosed, only follow-up examinations, rather than treatment, are required.

Structural abnormalities of the reproductive tract may also occur in DES daughters, such as malformations of the uterus and tubes. Most of these changes do not cause serious health problems, but some may be responsible for the pregnancy problems mentioned earlier. It has recently been determined that DES daughters face an increased risk of miscarriage in the second trimester, stillbirth and premature birth, and possibly an increased risk of ectopic (tubal) pregnancy. Most physicians, aware of these difficulties, automatically treat pregnancy in a DES daughter as a high risk pregnancy. Because of this special care, over 80 percent of DES daughters have successful pregnancies and births.

LITTLE IS known about the effects of DES-exposure on the sons of DES mothers. Ongoing studies show possible non-cancerous changes of the urogenital tract in some sons (such as cysts, undersized penises and undescended testicles) and lowered sperm counts.

There is no conclusive data that DES-exposure causes infertility in men.

Being a DES mother, daughter or son is not a blight, but it is a responsibility. Share that responsibility with your physician in a conscientious way.

Specific questions should be directed to your physician. This information is prepared by the Santa Clara County Medical Society in cooperation with the California Medical Association.

Veterinary Notes

NAILING IT DOWN

A pet's nails should be examined once a month. Nails that grow too long can split and cause the paws to spread. In extreme cases, this can be very painful and even crippling. Long nails break easily. Their jagged edges can snag on rugs, clothing and even in the pet's own hair resulting in injury. It is especially important to inspect the nails of polydactyl pets. (These are animals that have more than the usual number of toes). When the extra claws are abnormally jointed to the paw and the nails do not get any wear, the claws may become ingrown and infected. Dogs normally have 16 nails while cats have 18 (five on each forefoot and four on each hind foot).

A pet, no matter what kind, is very important to a child. For this reason, we recommend that you see to it that your new pet or old family friend be kept healthy. Be sure not to let any pet's illness go untreated. SARATOGA PET CLINIC offers full medical services for your pet. You will find us conveniently located next to Bob Gilmore's Florist at 12250 S. Hwy. 9, Saratoga. We are open 8-6 Mon.-Fri.; 8-5 Sat. Phone 253-6717.

When a dog is standing on all fours, his nails should be just off the ground

Brunching around the pretty South Bay area!!!

FORGET ABOUT LUNCH — ENJOY BRUNCH!

The word "brunch" is now an accepted word in the vocabulary of entertaining; it is listed in Webster's as "the spot between breakfast and lunch." Just how old is brunch? No one in my office seemed to know, so I decided to do a little research, and have come up with this knowledgeable tidbit.

Brunch was born in the Post World War II days, with also brought with it more relaxed and casual entertaining. This would be about 1946 or 1947. Regardless of its parentage or age, brunch is definitely here to stay!

Restaurants have really caught hold of the brunch craze; in fact, you'll discover that most of them now feature this "in-between" meal. Brunches may be served to your table, after you and your guests make a selection from a special brunch menu. Or the most popular trend seems to be in the lavish "buffet" table, laden with the most tempting and refreshing selections that can't be resisted by even the most stout-hearted dieters. There are a few fellas who truly become overzealous in making those return trips to this tempting table, and their protruding tummies and ample waistlines are evidence of this weakness.

About the brunch table: You'll discover a variety of foods on a well-stocked brunch table — breakfast dishes such as the proverbial scrambled eggs and bacon or ham (some serve English bangers), Eggs Benedict, fluffy omelettes, tender steak and eggs, biscuits n' gravy, croutons, muffins; then some tables lean more toward luncheon/supper entrees, such as chicken a la king, quiche Lorraine, chicken livers, fried chicken, roast prime rib of beef, roast turkey with all the trimmings and more.

Incidentally, the perfect brunch drink is either champagne, a screwdriver or bloody Mary. Also try a bullshot, which is comprised of bouillon and vodka. Delicious AND nutritional. And, if you wish a non-alcoholic drink, all of these may be ordered without the booze.

Here's just a few "brunch" restaurants that will please diners. Why don't you try them?

Seaside country living offered at Ocean Colony

Half Moon Bay, the pumpkin-studded seaside town, has a secret. It is Ocean Colony, a private 278-acre coastal community built around one of the top rated golf courses in northern California. Ocean Colony is only 28 miles from San Francisco, yet worlds apart.

The culture and history of Half Moon Bay and the secluded, gate-guarded grounds make Ocean Colony the most unique community between San Francisco and Monterey, according to Ocean Colony Associates.

Ocean Colony began in 1972 with the construction of the Half Moon Bay Golf Links. This championship golf course, designed in consultation with Arnold Palmer, became the focal point of the community to follow.

The oceanfront property had been sitting quietly incomplete until it was acquired recently by Ocean Colony Associates (OCA). When complete, Ocean Colony will include townhomes, an upscale apartment complex and a hotel, as well as a large selection of luxurious single-family homes.

A number of new and resale homes are now available for sale and priced from $235,000. Other semi-custom homes are being built as well as townhomes ranging in price from $190,000 to $240,000. A wide variety of homesites are also available for people who want to build their own custom homes.

The mild year-round temperatures make Ocean Colony a pleasant hideaway from city living. A diverse collection of stately manor homes, rambling western ranch, Capé Cod, Colonial and Tudor-style homes line the challenging 18-hole golf course.

To visit Ocean Colony from I-280, take Highway 92 to Half Moon Bay. Turn left on Highway 1 to Ocean Colony. For additional information, call (415) 726-9031.

Burger tops in Sunnyvale tourney

Moseley wins BIG in Deep Cliff event

Ieonne Moseley had herself quite a day when she strolled onto the fairways at the Deep Cliff Golf Course in Cupertino for a women's club tournament.

Because the Deep Cliff Women's Golf Club was hosting a Captain's Trophy Low Gross, Low Net and Jutts tournament on the final Tuesday in June, and Moseley was the big winner.

No, make that the BIG winner! Because Moseley didn't just post the low gross score, she didn't just record the low net total and she didn't just win the putts title . . . she took all three in the Deep Cliff tourney.

Moseley fired a 76 in the June 25th tournament to tie Liane Davila and Rae O'Dell for low gross honors.

Put together with her 22 handicap, that 76 scratch score gave her a tourney low 54 net total to make her the Captain's Trophy winner.

But that wasn't all. On her way to the low net title, she needed just 27 putts to win that crown too by a pair of strokes.

Davila was second in both the low net and putts action. Her 76-20 — 56 was good for a first flight win with 'O'Dell second at 76-15 — 61 and Jerry Maggiore third at 81-18 — 63.

Davila shared second in the putts competition with Caryoll Moorman each, golfer taking just 29 putts apiece on the day. Joan Hohag, Lorraine Stewart and Eve Connolly tied for third with 31 putts each.

Moseley was the easy winner in the second flight with her 76-22 — 54. Isabel Walls second was at 82-25 — 57 with Anne Dempsey third at 83-23 — 60.

Madeline Taughinbaugh won the third flight at 90-27 — 63 with N. Costanza second at 92-26 — 66 and Winnie Moore (94-26 — 68) and Daisy Fox (95-27 — 68) sharing third.

Kay Bruck won the fourth flight at 88-29 — 59 with Connolly second at 88-28 — 60, Utta Battelle third at 94-30 — 64 and Amy Sovish fourth at 94-29 — 65.

Ann Connelly was the fifth flight winner at 91-36 — 60 with Ginnie Currey and Millie Pearson tying for second with 96-31 — 65 apiece and G. Fagaldi third at 102-35 — 67.

SHORELINE WOMEN

The same day, the Shoreline Women's Golf Club hosted a Two Best Ball tournament on guest day and it was Carol Lott, Sue Weisenhunt and Ruth Myall combining for a 121 to win top honors.

Mo Williams, Lucy Stack and M. Vaughn finished second with a 122, just one stroke off the pace. Stack also won the closest-to-the-pin contest with a shot seven feet, 11 inches from the cup on the eighth hole. Virginia Thompson was second with Wyona Grobeck third.

Vicki Raugi, Jewel Litterman, Norma Gustafson and Dot Blanco shot a 129 to tie for third with Janice Lafetra, Leila Hill, Jennie Madlew and Marilou Rowe.

There was a three-way tie for fourth between the teams of Barbara Grant, Lorraine Nielsen, Shirley Strong and Jo Graziani; Bev Larson, Teresa Winters and Dot Schmidt; and Shirley Gibbons, Jean Hiraishi, Lai Lee and Dot Stewart.

For further information, call 408-797-2121.

SUNNYVALE WOMEN'S GOLF

Jean Burger was on top of her game last week at Sunnyvale, safely winning in the fourth flight of the low net tourney.

Coupling a gross score of 96 with her 31-handicap, Burger turned in a sparkling 65, five strokes lower than the closest competitor in her flight, and three better than any other golfer on the course.

Placing second in the fourth bracket was Joanne Firi with a 70 net, and Verla Green took third with a 71.

Sylvia Dunn won the first flight with an 82-14 — 68, the lowest gross score of the day. Jo Graziani finished two strokes back with a 70 net, and Bev O'Hern and Lai Lee tied for third with identical 93-22-71's.

Joan Hohag comfortably took the second flight with a 69, with Pat O'Hern (72) and Linda Stephens (76) trailing.

The third flight featured a three-way tie for — what else? — third. Joanne Prunty took first with a 68, one stroke ahead of Lotus Medvedeff, and Judy Shiramazu, Helen Graves, and Doris Tipler all recorded 72's.

Sarah Symington and Rosanne Jacobs both turned in nets of 75 to share the win in the fifth flight, and Betty Coleman followed with a 77.

Pat Springer captured the closest-to-the-pin competition, landing her ball nine feet and one-half inch from the pin.

MOSIER CLASSIC

FLAGS OVER 'TOGA

The Saratoga Country Club hosted a women's golf invitational back in mid-June, and there were 60 golfers who took part in the "Flags Are Flying Over Saratoga" tournament.

The winning foursome in the 18-hole tourney included Mrs. James Levis of the host club and her guests Mrs. Frank Covell of La Rinconada Country Club and Mrs. William Clark of San Jose Country Club and Mrs. Roy Combs, both of the San Jose Country Club.

Nailing second was the team of Mrs. P.K. Maxey and Mrs. James Thornton of Saratoga and their guests Mrs. Ray Murray of Los Altos Country Club and Mrs. Leo Artana of the Pajaro Valley Golf Club.

Finishing third in the tourney was the team of Mrs. Earl Miller of Saratoga and her guests Mrs. Charles Stanley of the Green Valley Country Club and Mrs. Peter Ewing and Mrs. Elliott Recht, both of the

The fifth annual Ross Mosier Golf Classic is slated for Monday, July 29, at the Stanford University Golf Course.

The entry fee for the tournament, a benefit for cystic fibrosis research at the Children's Hospital at Stanford, is $150 per player and includes green fees, tournament prizes, tee prizes, an evening wine tasting and a prime rib dinner.

The tourney is named for a child who died of cystic fibrosis at Stanford back in 1980.

For information on the event, call 415-327-4800, ext. 365.

SAUER MEMORIAL

"Keep Giving . . . We're Almost There" is the theme for the fourth annual Bob Sauer Memorial Golf Tournament scheduled for Friday, Aug. 2, at the Tulareitos Golf and Country Club in Milpitas.

The tournament is limited to the first 144 players and the entry fee of $45 includes green fees, carts, prizes, hole-in-one prizes, a steak dinner and an evening of jazz. All proceeds benefit the American Cancer Society and the entry deadline is July 26.

The shotgun start for the two-man scramble tourney is set for 11:30 a.m. with no-host cocktails from 6-7 p.m., dinner from 7-8 p.m. and jazz bands performing from 8 p.m. on. For just dinner and jazz, the fee is $17.50 per person and it's just $7.50 per person for the jazz show only.

For further information, call 408-262-8813.

Novice net tourney set for kids

It's summer vacation, and kids all over the area are looking for fun things to do.

to Northern California junior tennis players on Aug. 5-9.

The University Club is now accepting sign-ups for the tournament for boys and girls in the 10-and-under and 12's divisions.

Steinseifer a West Valley record-setter

In the time trials at the Santa Clara International Swim Meet, Carrie Steinseifer turned in a 27.56 in the 50 free.

But the West Valley Aquatic Team's star performer was only warming up. In the finals, she shaved 1.02 seconds off her previous time — and with it, she shaved the existing meet record out of the books.

Steinseifer, whose every achievement will be measured against her success in last year's Olympic Games, turned in the WVAT's top showing with her record-setting 26.54, but that wasn't the end of her contribution.

The freestyle proved to be her favorite stroke, as she placed second in the 200 free (2:04.09) and third in the 100 free (58.38). She didn't fare quite as well in the butterfly, turning in an 11th-place finish in the 100 fly (1:05.28).

Jennie Meehan had her best showing in the 400 free, taking fourth with her 4:29.37. She also placed seventh in the 800 free, stopping the clock in 9:15.85.

Brad Hinshaw improved his time by almost two seconds — down to 4:11.33 — in placing 13th in the 400 free, but his other two races saw his final times faster than in the trials. He grabbed a 16th-place finish in the 200 back (2:16.76) and a 17th in the 200 free (2:03.47).

Eric Olsen also earned a 17th-place finish, in the 100 back (1:04.74).

West Valley did well in the relays, as well. The team of Steinseifer, Laurie Hoefler, Meehan and Cynthia Hinshaw came in fourth in the 800 free (8:49.18), while Krissy Arthur replaced Meehan in helping the quartet to a ninth-place finish in the 400 free (4:09.90).

Another troupe of West Valley swimmers took their best shots at the De Anza Cupertino AA+ Trials and Finals Meet, with Tedder Stevenson and Jason Rutledge leading the way.

In six races, Stevenson finished no higher than second and no lower than fourth. His best showings came in the 50 fly (31.20) and the 100 fly (1:10.09), both of which saw him finish second.

He also recorded a pair of third-place finishes, in the 50 free (30.05) and the 100 free (1:03.98); and he earned in the 200 free (2:20.40) and the 200 individual medley (2:41.46).

Rutledge was at the top of his form in the 100 back, touching the side in 1:13.36 to claim second. He also picked up two thirds, in the 100 fly (1:12.53) and the 200 IM (2:38.94); two fourths, in the 100 free (1:05.38) and the 400 free (4:54.17); and a fifth in the 200 free (2:20.49).

Genie Faraday also swam in the 11/12 age group, placing fifth in the 100 breast with a time of 1:27.39.

Andrew Meehan found the freestyle to his liking, notching thirds in both the 200 (2:19.43) and the 400 (4:49.51), while he fell to seventh over the 100 meter distance (1:06.45). He took sixth in both the 100 back (1:19.73) and the 100 fly (1:16.28).

Joyce Murphy topped out in the 100 breast, streaking to a third-place finish with her time of 1:24.33. She followed that up with a fourth in the 100 back (1:15.72). In her other races, Murphy placed sixth in both the 50 free (30.32) and the 200 free (2:21.02), seventh in the 200 IM (2:39.37), and eighth in the 50 fly (33.55).

The lone entrant in the 10-and-under group, Dean Schmitt, took fourth in the 100 fly (1:28.67), sixth in the 50 fly (40.01), and eighth in the 50 free (34.47) and the 200 free (2:44.74).

In the 13/14 group, Debbie Siegfried turned in a fourth in the 100 free (1:04.13), while Kathy Oneto placed fifth in the 100 back (1:15.35) and sixth in the 200 back (2:45.20).

Kristine Murphy was the WVAT's sole winner at the meet, grabbing the gold in the 200 back with a time of 2:46.16. She finished just a shade off the pace in the 100 back, pulling in second with a 1:17.72.

Her other two races resulted in a seventh in the 100 breast (1:30.27), and an eighth in the 50 free (31.89).

John Tann raced in three freestyle events, but it was the middle distance he found best to his liking. His 2:05.86 in the 200 was good enough to ensure a third-place finish. In the 400 free he took fifth (4:26.31), and the 100 free saw him come in ninth (1:00.49).

Rod Rutledge also took part in three races, placing sixth in both the 50 free (28.36) and the 200 IM (2:30.60), to go along with a seventh in the 100 free (1:00.09).

Marguerite Oneto showed best in the 200 IM, taking fourth with her 2:39.27. Both the 100 free (1:06.71) and the 200 back (2:43.54) saw her pull in sixth, while she took ninth in the 50 free (30.90).

Stacey Flory grabbed a sixth-place finish in the 100 fly in a time of 1:12.04, and an eighth in the 100 free with a time of 1:07.81.

Markham 'flattens' another match sprint foe at Hellyer

Anybody here remember Joe Louis' Bum of the Month Club? The Breaking Away Friday Nights' races are starting to take on some of that flavor.

For a year or two around 1940, Louis, the World's Heavyweight Champion, flattened opponents at a clip of nearly one a month. Hence, the name.

Fred Markham gets his chance once every week, and he's made the best of it over the last six weeks. That's the period of time the speedy cyclist has gone undefeated at the Hellyer Park Velodrome.

Markham again won the match sprint title, defeating Bobbie Walthour in two straight races. After falling behind early in the second race, which is news in itself, Markham came on for the win.

Following the night's action, "Fast Fred" had broken, or was poised to break, all of the Friday Night records. His six consecutive individual wins set a new mark, while seven consecutive Madison team victories tie the existing record. Teamed with Dannie Nall, the pair set a new Madison team time standard of 34.50.

Gary Mandy will get his first chance this season to break the Markham stranglehold on the match sprint title. He earned the chance by winning the sprint final, edging out Chris Chong-Tenn, Don Langley, Glen Winkel and Lane Freestone.

Trailing the winners in the team race were Mandy and Dave Zanotti, Winkel and Jon Geary, Langley and Brad Chin, Bill Ehlers and Ken George, Chong-Tenn and Ken Kennedy, John Temple and Jim Passe, and Chuck Bean and James Harness.

Markham also won the point race and the miss-and-out. In the former he defeated Chin, Zanotti, Winkel, Mandy and Phil Peterson; in the latter, Mandy, Zanotti, Winkel, George and Ehlers.

Paul Clark did well in the (B) class events, recording two firsts and a second.

He took the 20-lap race ahead of Jim Robinson, Nic Farats, and Brian Brancato, and the omnium ahead of Farats, Robinson and Loren Wickstrom.

Farats took the seven-lap race, edging Robinson, Doug Martin and Ivan Shadwick, while Wickstrom topped the field of Clark, Passe and Shadwick in the three-lap race.

Gates open at 6:30 p.m. at the Velodrome, with the first race beginning at 8 p.m. The cost is $3.50 for adults, $1 for children under 12, and $10 for a no-limit carload.

Malley, Curry take over Bronco posts

The mid-June selection of Terry Malley as Santa Clara University's second head football coach since 1959 has given him time to become familiar with the position, without the immediate pressure of the coming fall season.

The players are currently working out on their own, says Malley, who has spent his first two weeks on the job attending to administrative duties such as making sure that they're academically qualified to play. Team drills will begin towards the end of August.

Malley, the Broncos' quarterback and wide receivers coach for the past five seasons, graduated to the helm of the program upon the death of his father Pat, who stepped into the head coaching job when football was reinstated at the school after a six year absence.

The announcement of Malley's hiring was made by Rev. Robert M. Senkewicz, S.J., at a June 18 press conference. At the same time, Senkewicz also appointed Dan Curry as the interim athletic director. The elder Malley also served as the school's athletic director.

Curry, 33, has served as the assistant A.D. since last August, and was executive director of the Bronco Bench for two years before that.

Both Malley, 30, and Ron Calcagno, the other finalist to be considered for the job, played their college ball with the Broncos. Calcagno, currently the head coach at St. Francis High School, was a little All-American as a quarterback in 1963. His younger brother Ray earned the same honor at the same position in '67, and his son Greg is entering his sophomore season as the Broncos signal-caller.

Malley was a varsity quarterback in the 1973-76 seasons. As a starter in '76, he completed 57 of 109 passes, good for 740 yards and seven touchdowns.

He has 17 freshmen joining the team for the fall season, but his prospects for success are grounded in football reality, which translates out as the presence or absence of injuries. "The key at Santa Clara will be our depth," he said. "If our injury situation is okay, we'll definitely have our hat in the ring."

Remodeling problems? Stick to your contract

By Sonja Wilcomer

Send all mail for this column to Consumers United, P.O. Box 60894, Palo Alto, Ca., 94306, or call (415) 494-1858 for consumer advice.

We are in the process of having our kitchen remodeled. The contractor is taking a long time to finish the job. We're worried about whether he will finish the work or not. He keeps asking us for the balance of the money we owe him, although we're supposed to pay him the rest upon completion of the work.

We have already paid him 90 percent of the money due, according to the contract, copy enclosed. I call him every day to ask him when he is going to finish, and he keeps saying he will be back in a few days. What can we do?

Mr. & Mrs. Arthur Pannel, Atherton

Do not make any further payment until the work is completed and you are satisfied with the results and that everything works properly. Stick to the letter of your contract in this regard.

Call the contractor and tell him if he doesn't complete the work promptly as written in the contract, you are going to call the State Contractor's Board. If that doesn't move him, file a complaint and talk about consulting a lawyer for breach of contract.

The best thing to do when hiring a contractor is to set up the proper type of contract — spelling out in detail everything, including the schedule of payments related to a time limit for completion of the work, with all the money in escrow.

Send for Consumers United's publication, "How to Deal With a Contractor." It costs $1 plus a legal size, self-addressed envelope with a 22 and 17 cent stamp on it.

Call Consumers United for advice, referrals and help before you set up the job to be done. It may save you a lot of headaches, later.

I am moving across country and would like Consumers United's help in choosing a company, and whatever advice you can give me.

Ed Beatitt, Mountain View

Ask your friends or other members of your company if they can recommend a moving company. Be sure that they, not the company, paid for the move. Movers give preferential treatment to businesses.

Make sure you get a written estimate. Verbal estimates are not binding. Moving companies deliver C.O.D., so you have to have the money on hand after the goods are delivered.

Be sure to show the estimator everything you plan to move. Be sure the estimate includes cost of packing, unpacking and all materials, etc. On interstate moves, written estimates are not binding, but after the van unloads, you are not required to pay more than the estimate plus 10 percent. You then have 15 days to pay the balance.

You should get estimates from at least three companies. Do not pick the lowest without checking it out carefully. They may be just quoting a low cost to get you to choose their company. You should receive an order for service from the company before you move, which should include not only the estimated cost but the agreed upon pickup and delivery

Humane volunteers

The Humane Society of Santa Clara Valley will hold its summer training classes from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturdays, July 13 and July 20. The sessions will cover volunteer opportunities in adoptions, office, kennel, pet supply shop and other animal welfare positions. For more information, call the society at (408) 727-3383.

Work Brigades

Former CIA agent David MacMichael will be guest speaker at a party celebrating the sixth anniversary of the Nicaraguan revolution at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 13.

The affair, sponsored by the Nicaragua Work Brigades, will be held at 10494 Ann Arbor Ave, near the corner of Stelling Road and Stevens Creek Boulevard in Cupertino. Brigadistas will report on experiences in Nicaragua and there will be live entertainment. A donation of $7 (or a good quality shovel) is requested. All proceeds will be used to buy shovels for Nicaragua's reforestation program.

For further information, call him at (408) 288-6678.

If the mover cannot fulfill this time slot, he must notify you. Save all your paper work and receipts.

Get the I.C.C. booklet — "Summary of Information for Shippers of Household Goods." Moving companies are required to give you this information. If they won't, report them to the I.C.C. The booklet contains important information about your rights.

Try not to move in the summer, the beginning or end of months or weekends.

Get your estimates six to eight weeks in advance and pick a company one month in advance.

Get rid of all your old possessions and ones you never use. Good time for a garage sale. Ship items like books through the mail, the book rate is cheaper. Take valuables and jewelry with you personally.

Label all the boxes. Plan to be home all day. Have a destination at the other end; putting your goods in storage will cost you a lot to remove them.

Be sure all items of value, antiques, etc. are listed by carrier and show the value on the inventory or shipping documents. Be sure you have sufficient valuation protection.

If you have any problems with loss or damage, file a claim as quickly as possible. The company must respond to your claim in 30 days, then has 120 days to act upon it.

If you have any problems with the moving company, get help from the I.C.C. (Interstate Commerce Commission), which deals with out of state movers.

New wineries, new releases arrive on the wine scene

By Mary Lester

THE WINE INDUSTRY these days is so versatile that I never know what news I'll be hearing next. It could be about wine releases, another winery being built, a novel idea for a wine label or a former movie-TV star getting into the wine business.

One recent wine release I've got to report on: It's from Roudon Smith Winery in Santa Cruz, and it's a NV (non-vintaged) Claret. This Roudon Smith Claret simply has got to be one of the best red wine buys available. The color is a beautiful clear ruby red, and the smell is clean and nice. The wine is mainly Cabernet Sauvignon and Zinfandel plus a bit of Sylvaner, which probably accounts for the wine's slightly different taste. While highly drinkable now, it should improve for another year or two and then hold four or five more, which brings it to around 1990-91. The price is unbelievable: $3.50! This Roudon Smith Claret is a 3-Star buy.

A trio of new wineries grabbed my attention by their labels. The one is Lake Sonoma Cellars in Geyserville, Sonoma County. The label is creme-colored in background and in pastels and portrays a grape leaf caught in a swirl of Lake Sonoma. On it was printed "Dry Creek Valley 1982 Merlot."

Columbia-Crest Vineyards in Paterson, Wash., has a new bottling by Chateau Ste. Michelle. Under this Columbia-Crest label, Chateau Ste. Michelle winemakers blended three different varieties of Washington State grapes to produce a complex wine that illustrates the uniqueness of the Columbia Valley appellation.

THE LABEL HAS A WHITE background with a navy blue and gold crest running across it. Going diagonally through the crest is a gold grape vine branch with dangling bunches of grapes. It's a classy and bright label.

On July 19, I'm invited, but won't be going, to the dedication of the $15 million Ste. Genevieve winery located in Fort Stockton, Texas!

The invite told me there was a 1,000-acre vineyard and a two-story mechanical harvester in operation.

Well, from what I read, the winery is in keeping with Texas-style holdings: BIG. I enjoyed seeing the commemorative label for their 1984 Fume Blanc from Pecos County that showed rows of green vineyards and orange-rust-tan hills in the background, topped by blue sky. I've got to get a sample of this wine from Ste. Genevieve.

And, I'm now convinced that if you don't collect wines for one reason or another, you can always start saving labels — some of them might just be very worthwhile artistically and monetarily. Cheers!

'Cocoon' —charming, enthralling

By Larry Engelmann

RON HOWARD'S "Cocoon" is a charming, almost Disneyesque tale of the confrontation of a group of senior citizens in a Florida retirement community with extraterrestrials from a distant galaxy. Howard combines science fiction, romance, comedy, social commentary and luscious special effects in this picture, and the result is something truly enthralling to watch.

The extraterrestrials of "Cocoon" appear to be four fairly normal human beings who approach Jack Bonner (Steve Guttenberg) and lease his fishing boat for a diving expedition off the coast of Florida. At the same time they rent a palatial estate near the coast and next door to a retirement community. The only requirement for the estate is that it have a large swimming pool.

The leader of the extraterrestrial group, Walter (Brian Dennehy) is a good-natured and patient man who understands and readily forgives the incompetency of Bonner, but at the same time never confides in the young man, nor does he say exactly what he is doing on the ocean floor. Jack is curious about the work and also is curious about Kitty (Tahnee Welch), the beautiful young companion of Walter.

IN THE RETIREMENT community, meanwhile, three elderly men — Art (Don Ameche), Ben (Wilford Brimley) and Joe (Hume Cronyn) — while away their days fishing, playing cards and shuffleboard, attending sedate social gatherings and, on very special occasions, sneaking off to the neighboring mansion to swim in the warm pool.

The arrival of the new renters of the mansion changes the routine of the elderly men very little, since the new renters spend most of each day at sea diving.

But something wonderful does happen. The three men discover, accidentally, that the swimming pool has suddenly become a fountain of youth. They swim around, play like young boys, feel themselves becoming impassioned and race back to the retirement community like a trio of young energetic bucks.

They return to the pool with their wives. In a few days, all of their illnesses have disappeared, their eyesight has returned to 20/20, they are all energetic and optimistic and brimming with happiness.

But there is a problem. The vitality that is imparted by the water of the swimming pool is intended for something else. And only accidentally do the six oldsters find out the truth about the new renters of the mansion. When something seems too good to be true, there must be a catch. The extraterrestrials and the oldsters, tragically, discover what the catch is.

This is a delightful movie and a delightfully funny one, too. Scene after scene is timed and staged to absolute perfection by Howard, who appears to have surpassed even his past successes — "Splash" and "Nightshift" — in this whimsical and sensitive comedy.

THERE IS A GENUINE sweetness to this picture that is difficult to describe. That sweetness is apparent in the performances of all of the leads — including the elders and the extraterrestrials. Everyone can fall in love with this picture. This is an ensemble comedy masterpiece and one of the finest motion pictures of this year.

Opponents become All-Star teammates

The last time Charlie Wedemeyer saw Paul Sorenson and Roosevelt Noble, they were knocking down his Los Gatos Wildcats in the semi-finals of the Central Coast Section football play-offs at Independence High School.

Sorenson and Noble were two key defensive players for St. Francis High School when the Lancers tied the Cats 14-14 before winning in the California Tiebreaker in the game that made the CCS championship game against Bellarmine seem almost anti-climatic.

It was a disappointing end to an exciting season for Wedemeyer and his Wildcats.

But all that's forgotten now . . . especially since the two Lancers and four of Wedemeyer's Wildcats will be pulling on matching jerseys in two weeks when they take part in the 11th annual Santa Clara County All-Star Football Game.

Wedemeyer and Mitty's Dave Brown will serve as the co-head coaches for the North squad in the July 25th contest at San Jose State's Spartan Stadium. Jack Brubaker of Mt. Pleasant and Frank Lopez of Lick will share the head coaching chores for the South team in the 7:30 p.m. game.

Both Wedemeyer and Brown (whose club lost — to St. Francis in the regular West Catholic Athletic League season) saw more than they wanted to of the Lancers last fall, but they're happy to have at least two members of the CCS championship squad in the North line-up this summer.

Sorenson, a linebacker, and Noble, a cornerback, will be the lone representatives from St. Francis in the July 25th game.

Wide receiver Jeff Blaisdell, quarterback Brock Bowman, running back Todd Mayo and linebacker Pat Smith will represent the Wildcats in the North-South battle and tightend-linebacker Matt Haniger and quarterback-defensive back Mike Mercado will accompany their Mitty coach to the game.

Joining the aforementioned players as North All-Stars will be running back Tyler Burke, lineman Jack Mohr and tackle Chris McClure of Los Altos; wide receiver Andy Coan of Gunn; wide receiver Casey Copeland, defensive back Willie Deason, running back Bruce Driggs and quarterback Greg Neher of Wilcox; place-kicker Wes Denton of Westmont; defensive back Steve Dipko, center Andy Guidero and lineman Chris Linder of Cupertino; defensive backs Bret Erickson and Chris Valenzuela of Monta Vista; tackle Scott Fitzgerald of Blackford; linebacker Gary Gatiss, tackle Charlie Reynolds, tackle Mike Schroeder and tackle Gary Wilberd-ing of Saratoga; tackle Eric Hayes of Palo Alto; running back Paul Marcy and tackle David Williams of Homestead; tackle Pete Mascola of Del Mar; center Kirk Niemeyer and tight end Steve Walker of Prospect; end Ricky Samuels of Fremont; guard Anthony Trawick and tackle Dave Truesdell of Santa Clara; tackle Joe Urban of Lynbrook; end Scott Welch of Valley Christian; and tackle Jason Williams and wide receiver Troy Winslow of Mountain View.

Over on the South side, it's the stars of Bellarmine and Oak Grove heading the line-up.

Bellarmine knocked off the Eagles in the CCS semi-finals last fall, a night after the Lancers had nipped the Wildcats. The Bells went on to meet St. Francis in the Section title game and lost a close decision.

Five Bells and five Eagles has been selected to play for the South in the July 25th All-Star clash, including the quarterback from each club.

Ron Caragher of Bellarmine and Shanon Mornhinweg of Oak Grove were rivals in last fall's CCS semi-mates in the All-Star clash.

Joining Caragher in the 'Star tilt from Bellarmine will be running back Mark Dumont, wide receiver J.P. Scandalios, noseguard Pat Wahler and guard Will Wall.

Along with Mornhinweg, Eagles on the South squad will include linebacker Norman Brown, tight end Cecil Lincoln, center Bill Romero and wide receiver Vernon Todd.

Rounding out the South All-Star team will be tackle Todd Baxter and end Scott Sumwalt of Leland; tackle Michael Caravelli and cornerback Mike Ross of Santa Teresa; end Rodney Clay, linebacker Bennie Gibbs, running back Lance Lister and defensive back Thad Phillips of Mt. Pleasant; tackle Jim Davis and center Sean MacKintosh of Gundersen; defensive back Bernard Ellison of Milpitas; running back Mike Fleming of Leigh; wide receiver Paul Hembrooke and defensive back Mike Nedved of Pioneer; tackle Dan Herr of Branham; end Howard Hodge, linebacker Richard Randall and running back Tony Randall of Overfelt; tight end Ryan Hollenbeck and guard James Whitemeyer of Independence; wide receiver Jimmy Hughes of Silver Creek; full-back Jim Javier of Piedmont Hills; defensive back Mark Maciel and linebacker Joseph Piccini of Live Oak; lineman Faalina Maileoi of Yerba Buena; wide receiver Freddie Stewart of San Jose; tackle Richard Toll of Gilroy; linebacker Milo Tuumalo of Andrew Hill; and tackle David Williams of Willow Glen.

Nick's 'quick', but Perry's the fastest . . . again!

By Dick Sparrer

They call him "Quick Nick" Rescino, because there's no one in San Jose Fairgrounds Speedway history who has recorded more quick times in qualifying than the speedster from Sunnyvale.

Rescino has posted a record 40 fast times in his years of sliding through the Fairgrounds dirt, and he's notched an incredible 196 quick times in his impressive racing career.

So someone will have to go some to steal away Rescino's "Quick" nickname . . . but Jim Perry jr. is certainly trying!

Because Rescino had to take a backseat to Perry in qualifying last weekend at the local track. And it's a position super modified drivers have been growing accustomed to in recent weeks.

The fast time recorded by Perry last Saturday night was his fifth in the past seven weeks out at the Speedway. Despite qualifying late (24th in the 38-car field), Perry spun a 13.897 lap to post the fast time with Rescino second at 13.982.

"Who knows how fast he would have been had he come out earlier," said track announcer Jim Burns, who indicated that the later a driver qualifies, the slower the track becomes.

But, as has been his luck in recent weeks, Perry ran into trouble later in the night after posting his fast time.

"He rolled in the fourth heat," said Burns. "But his crew made quick repairs and they did a good job just to get him ready for the main event."

Perry managed a respectable eighth place finish in the feature, but it was San Jose points leader Mike Sargent taking the checkered flag first after outdueling Rescino.

Sargent posted his first win since May 25th and his fifth win of the year in the 25-lap feature. The win was also the 32nd of his career at the Fairgrounds, leaving him a single victory behind Rescino and John Viel on the all-time list.

Pole-sitter Roger Curl of San Jose was the early leader, but Duane Larson of San Jose grabbed the lead on a fourth lap restart.

Larson led from the fifth lap to the 12th when Sargent took the lead for good. Rescino moved into second on the 14th lap and "challenged for the lead," according to Burns. "But towards the end Sargent pulled away and won by about five car lengths."

Sargent, who tops the standings with 420 points with Chuck Miller of San Jose second at 380 and Rescino third at 349, finished first in the feature with Rescino second, Miller third, Larson fourth and Curl fifth.

It was one of the best outings of the year for Larson, and likewise for Curl. The rookie's crew had to change a motor between the heat and main event and did a good job just to get him on the track for the feature.

Jerry Cecil ended up sixth with Gary Willey of San Jose seventh, Perry eighth, Joe McGee ninth and Art McCarthy jr. of San Jose 10th. Larson, Curl, Cecil and McCarthy were the four qualifiers for the July 20th running of the Johnny Key Classic.

Ron Wiperman finished 11th in the main followed by Nick Ringo, Jerry Freitas of Santa Clara, John Lott of San Jose, rookie Blair Pine of San Jose, Viel, Don Babcock jr. of Santa Clara and Scott Lohdorff of San Jose.

Rescino had won the night's final heat with Sargent second, Viel third, Freitas fourth and Miller fifth and Miller had won the trophy dash with Rescino second, Perry third and McGee fourth.

Sargent was a heat winner on the night with Cecil second, Willey third, Rescino fourth and Wiperman fifth and Ringo won his heat with Nick Foster of San Jose second, Ken Bowman of San Jose third, John Tinsley of San Jose fourth and Earle Stanton of San Jose fifth.

The heat win was Ringo's fifth of the year, and he came back later to win his record-setting fifth semi-main of the year. Ringo snapped the record of four semi wins set by Dan Smith in 1981, and also broke Smith's career record of eight wins by posting his ninth career semi-main victory. McCarthy was second with Foster third, Wayne Katen of San Jose fourth and Jeff Delte of San Jose fifth.

Delte had won a heat race earlier in the night with Miller second, Viel third, Freitas fourth and Larson fifth and Rod Spencer won the first heat with Katen second, McCarthy third, Dave Thompson of San Jose fourth and Chuck McCurley of San Jose fifth.

The supers will return to the San Jose track this Saturday for the final week of qualifying for the Key Classic. Four more drivers will win Key berths, and the competition should be keen since veterans Howard Kaeding of Campbell, Mark Sargent of San Jose and Larry Rudolph of Milpitas are still looking for starting spots.

The stock cars will run alongside the super mods this weekend before taking four weeks off. The stockers will run just three more events at San Jose this season — this Saturday (July 13th) and then Aug. 17 and 24.

Robert Miller of San Jose could lock up the season title event before the stockers break for a month. Miller tops the San Jose standings with 426 points and needs just 39 points to clinch the 1985 crown.

Mike Petrucci is second on the charts at 343 with Mark Barron of Sunnyvale third at 243, Larry Lundin of San Jose fourth at 229 and Cliff Reinosa fifth at 189.

Miller helped himself last weekend with a clean sweep, winning his heat race, the trophy dash and the main event.

The feature win was Miller's 10th of the season, padding the track record he already owns, and the 20th of his career, tying him for the career mark of 20 owned by Dave Byrd of Los Gatos.

Feller brings pitching magic to S. J.

Bees win in front of 6,000 on 4th of July

It was April 16, 1940. There was excitement in the air around Chicago's Comiskey Park. The White Sox were preparing to open another American League season.

But the excitement was soon to turn to frustration for the Sox that day. And all because of a hard-throwing young right hander for the Cleveland Indians... Bob Feller.

Because Feller, who had made history the year before by winning over 20 games before reaching his 21st birthday, made a little more history on that April afternoon. He beat the White Sox 1-0 and he did it with a no-hitter.

It was the first no-hitter ever thrown in an opening day game. And there's been none since.

Feller went on to win 27 games that season for the Indians, and 266 in a career good enough to win him baseball's ultimate honor... a berth in the Hall of Fame.

It's been over 45 years since Feller fired that no-hitter at the Indians in 1940, the first of three no-hitters in his illustrious career. But Feller will show off the form that gained him Hall of Fame honors this Thursday when he stops off at San Jose Municipal Stadium for "Bob Feller Night" with the San Jose Bees.

The Bees will host the Modesto A's in a 7:15 p.m. California League game on Thursday, July 11, at Muni, and Feller will be the guest of honor.

All fans entering the stadium with a catcher's mitt will be admitted free and will get the opportunity to catch one of the famed Feller fast balls during the seventh inning in the Bees bullpen.

Feller will also say a few words to the San Jose fans at 6:30 p.m. before firing his fast balls to members of the media in a pre-game exhibition. During the game, he'll be available at the Bees' souvenir stand to sign autographs and talk about his career with local fans.

And what a career it was!

"Rapid Robert" won 20 or more games six times in an 18-year career that was interrupted by World War II, and he had 12 one-hitters to go with his three no-hitters.

He registered an impressive 2,581 career strike-outs and led the American League in strike-outs seven times.

In 1962, he joined baseball's elite with his induction into the Hall of Fame.

So the Bees will have to take a backseat to Bob Feller when they show up at Muni for Thursday's game against Modesto. But last Thursday night, the Bees took a backseat to no one.

Because before a California League record crowd of 6,091, the Bees knocked off the Salinas Spurs 6-3.

A two-run single by former Santa Clara University star Kevin Dunton and a solo homer by catcher Gary Jones, his sixth of the year, keyed a five-run second inning rally for the Bees.

First baseman Greg Robles improved on his .300-plus average with a perfect three-for-three night for San Jose. Robles is now hitting a solid .312 for the Bees.

Alonzo Powell ripped a pair of hits for San Jose on the night and Phil Smith and Tim Hill each singled. Smith leads all Bees hitters with a .326 batting mark.

Sixes were wild for San Jose starter Mike Zamba, who tossed six-plus innings of six-hit baseball to claim his sixth win of the year. Right handed reliever Shawn Stone fanned three in two and two-thirds innings of relief to claim the save.

It marked the second straight win for the Bees, who had nipped the Redwood Pioneers 1-0 the night before.

Ake Gotoh whirled a four-hit shut-out, fanning just one but walking only five, to lead the Bees to the victory.

Robles got Gotoh the only run he needed on the night when he doubled in the sixth and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Powell.

The two wins evened San Jose's second half record at 6-6, and stopped a skid that had seen them lose four straight after starting the half with four wins in five games.

The Bees had lost the first two games of the three-game series to Redwood, losing them both in the last inning.

San Jose took a 6-5 lead into the ninth on Tuesday against Redwood, only to give up two runs to lose 7-6. Jim Allen singled and doubled, Robles doubled and drove in two runs and Shawn Barton doubled in the loss.

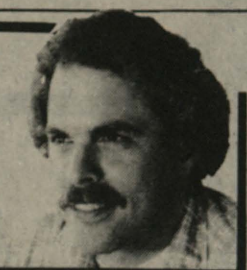

The Bees were to visit Visalia for a pair of games this past weekend before taking three days off. San Jose will be back in action against Modesto on Thursday and will then host Visalia for a pair of 7:15 p.m. games on Friday and Saturday and a 1:30 p.m. game on Sunday.

San Jose righthander Ake Gotch fired a four-hit shut-out last Wednesday night to lift the Bees to a tight 1-0 win over the Redwood Pioneers. A night later, there were over 6,000 Fourth of July fans on hand to see the Bees knock off the Salinas Spurs 6-3.

'Rapid Robert' comes to town for showdown

"Do not forsake me oh my darling..."

Ah yes, we remember those words so well.

You don't? Think back... the background music in the film classic "High Noon?" Gary Cooper and Grace Kelly?

Well, take my word for it—that's symbolically what Coop was saying to Grace before he swaggered out onto that dusty main street for his showdown with the infamous Red Miller.

And it will be those exact words (or something to that effect, anyway) that I'll whisper to my wife this Thursday night. And she'll whimper, "No... you're not..."

I'll just calmly reply, "Yup, I'm gettin' ready for a showdown!"

That's right, pardner... this 'ol sports writer has a date at high noon (better make that at about seven o'clock on Thursday). And only the fastest will survive.

It will be "Rapid Robert" against "Deadeye Dick." But we won't be reaching for six-shooters... the weapons will be bat and ball!

"Rapid Robert" will have the ball. Of course, we all know him better as Hall of Fame righthander Bob Feller, who posted 266 career victories with the Cleveland Indians; who tossed three no-hitters; who struck out 2,581 Major Leaguers; who won 20- or more games six times.

And "Deadeye Dick" will have the bat. Of course, we all know him better... as a sports writer (oh, boy, I'm in big trouble!).

The "showdown" will come prior to Thursday's California League game between the San Jose Bees and Modesto A's at San Jose Municipal Stadium.

Feller will be on hand to greet the fans, to sign autographs, to pitch to fans who bring their own catcher's mitts to the park and to pitch to members of the media.

And that's where I come in. Whether he likes it or not, Feller will have to throw that fast ball to me.

Sure he's faced guys like Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle without batting an eye. But when Feller was told he had to face "Deadeye Dick" this Thursday at

"Rapid Robert" feller, ready for showdown

Muni, he had to be nervous when he reportedly replied, "Never heard of him!" Why do I suddenly feel like Bob Uecker?

At any rate, my fans have confidence in me. One friend found out about the Thursday showdown and said he thought I'd take Feller downtown!

So, never one to let a compliment die and realizing that "downtown" is an old baseball term for out of the park, I asked, "What field... left, center, right?"

He laughed. "No, you misunderstood," he explained. "I said, that the only way you could take him downtown was to give him a ride to his hotel room the Holiday Inn after the game!"

Ah, such confidence.

At any rate, I'll swagger into that dusty batter's box at Muni on Thursday... me with my 34 ounces of Louisville Slugger and Bob Feller with his still "rapid" fast ball.

Feller with his 266 career victories.

Feller with his three no-hitters! Feller with his bronze bust in the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown!!!

Do not forsake me oh my composure!

The company that has been making outdoor living more comfortable for 85 years has set a new standard for camping with the introduction of its Plantation Series of folding travel trailers.

The luxury features of solid-wall travel trailers are now incorporated into easy-to-tow folding camping trailers. The Tara, with a drop-floor galley area and master suite with queen-sized bed and tub/shower,

Each trailer has a wardrobe which converts to a love seat, a power-exhaust roof vent, galley area with three-burner range, built-in three-way gas/electric refrigerator, pre-wiring for stereo and built-in 19,500 BTU gas furnace for chilly mornings and evenings.

The Plantation trailers have box-beam tubular steel frames with high-impact ABS front and rear panels, and Coleman's exclusive automotive-type construction, strongest and lightest in the industry. They incorporate a one-piece aluminum screen door and a Stepper door with dead-bolt lock.

Intercooled turbo adds power to Conquest

Chrysler Corporation this Spring will introduce a 1985½ model Conquest five-passenger sports touring car equipped with an intercooled turbo engine that substantially increases power and performance.

The intercooler and other engine modifications increase output of the sleek sportster's four-cylinder 2.6 liter electronic-fuel-injected engine from 145 hp to 170 hp at 5,000 rpm. Torque is increased from 185 ft/lb to 220 ft/lb at 2,500 rpm.

The intercooler removes much of the turbo-induced heat from the engine's intake air, increasing the density of the fuel/air mix and optimizing combustion.

"The Conquest intercooler permits us to increase the boost of the turbocharger, and maximizes density of the air-fuel mix," explained Darrell L. Davis, general manager of Chrysler's Import/Export Operations. "It results in an overall horsepower increase of 15 percent, with some enhancement to fuel economy."

"We believe we are among the leaders in the industry with this innovative feature. We think it should broaden the appeal of our luxurious imported Conquest to a wider range of performance car enthusiasts."

The intercooler works by removing much of the heat generated by the turbocharging process.

The heat generated during rapid turbo compression of air partially counteracts the turbocharger's function of maximizing air density because heat causes the air to expand, reducing its density.

If the turbocharger increases pressure of the air used in the engine combustion process by 100 percent, for instance, the density of the air is increased by only about 60 percent because heat expansion phenomena.

By sending turbo air from the turbocharger through the intercooler, the turbocharged air going into the engine is cooled and its density substantially increased.

This cooler air greatly increases combustion efficiency and optimizes engine performance. It also reduces the tendency of "over-hot" turbo air to cause engine knock under certain driving conditions.

Cooler turbocharged air also permits higher turbocharged boost levels. Boost has been increased by 16 percent, from 7.5 psi to 8.7 psi.

While the intercooler itself directly accounts for a 6 percent increase in horsepower, the increase in turbocharger pressure raises the Conquest's horsepower by an additional 7.5 percent.

An additional 1.5 percent horsepower gain was achieved by modifying ignition timing and using dual electrically-driven engine cooling fans in place of a conventional belt-driven fan.

The compact aluminum intercooler measures only 8 by 16.5 by 2.5 inches. Located just beneath the restyled front air dam, it receives its own cool air supply through a separate intake aperture.

An electronic sensor monitors intake air temperature at the intercooler and fuel injectors, insuring precise control of the air/fuel ratio.

A computerized altitude timing advance control automatically advances spark to achieve sustained optimum performance in high altitude areas.

The 1985½ Conquest's innovative dual electric fans are mounted side-

Auto trends

Nancy Castro

by-side, behind the intercooler.

The fans switch on automatically in low or high cooling modes, when engine temperature reaches 80 degrees C, or 100 degrees C, respectively. The new fan system removes load from the engine, increasing fuel economy. It also improves engine cooling and air conditioner functions at idle, reduces fan noise during acceleration and improves heater performance.

To accommodate the higher output of the turbocharged, intercooled engine, several modifications have been made to the Conquest's drive train and suspension systems.

Stronger drive train materials are used. The axle drive shaft, rear axle differential and drive shaft have been increased in size.

Clutch cover assembly and disc have been reinforced. The five-speed, fully synchronized manual overdrive transmission has stronger, surface-treated gears and higher capacity bearings.

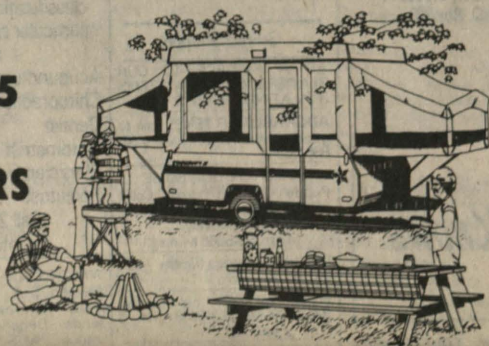

New five-stud 15-inch aluminum wheels replace the standard Conquest's 14-inch wheels to accommodate higher performance stresses and improve performance handling. The diameters of the discs on the four-wheel ventilated disc brake system have been increased to enhance anti-fade characteristics and improve high speed performance.

An intercooled turbo engine and other engine modifications has increased the power of the 1985½ Conquest, imported for Plymouth and Dodge.
